SureView Systems Features Strategic Partnerships at ISC West 2016

Company and customers also to participate in SIA Education@ISC West presentations

Tampa, Fla. (March 23, 2015) — SureView Systems, a global provider of commercial central station and enterprise command center software, will showcase the benefits and capabilities of its Immix® Command Center (CC) software platform, participate in education sessions and demonstrate expanded technology partnerships during the ISC West Conference and Expo, April 6-8, 2016, at the Sands Expo Center in Las Vegas.

Immix CC software is a cloud-based security management and intelligence platform designed to combine the capabilities of multiple disparate security systems and business processes together, including video surveillance, access control, IP audio, geo-mapping, risk management and compliance under a single, unified platform. With the largest integration library available today, Immix CC provides unparalleled, end-to-end incident management, and ensures robust security and risk mitigation strategies are met.

SureView's Immix CC solution will be demonstrated at the booths of its strategic partners including SmartVue at booth #8125 and VCA Technology at booth #7017.

SureView and SIA Education@ISC West

SureView's technology will be featured during the ISC West Opening Keynote address, "Lights! Camera! Action! How Paramount Pictures Delivers Enhanced Safety and Global Security While Driving Operational Efficiency and Sustainable ROI," from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m., Wednesday, April 6, in Room 701 in the Sands Expo Center. Scott Phemister, Executive Director of Business Resiliency, Paramount Pictures; Steve Tiffany, Director of Studio Systems, Paramount Pictures; and Jeff Reider, Senior Analyst, Business Resiliency, Paramount Pictures will discuss the business continuity needs of the demanding business, how officials handle day-to-day operations and ways in which the company achieves strategic goals of operational efficiency in a global market.

Additionally, Rob Hile, Director of Enterprise Command Centers for SureView Systems, will serve as the moderator for, "The State of the Cloud in the Security Industry," from 10 to 11 a.m., Thurs., April 7, in room 304 at the Sands Expo Center. The panel includes Jumbi Edulbehram, Regional President, Americas for Oncam, and Brian Tuskan, Senior Director of Technology and Investigations, Microsoft, and will address cloud-based infrastructure, and the safety and security concerns associated with cloud-based applications.

“We are excited to play such a large role in the SIA Education@ISC West program being kicked off by the opening keynote featuring Paramount Pictures, as well as the panel highlighting the evolution of cloud-based technologies in our industry,” said Rob Hile, Director of Enterprise Command Centers, SureView Systems. “We are grateful that our valued partners at Paramount are able to reach the rest of the security industry and introduce their cutting-edge global security operations center that features our Immix technology. For us, our partnerships really tell the story of our dedication to the software we sell and the relationships we’ve built.”
